Emerald Spire®

The compact Emerald Spire® Flowering Crabapple is a relatively new variety that has shown exceptional winter hardiness and disease resistance. Maturing at no more than 15 feet tall and 6 feet wide, it's an excellent selection for smaller landscapes. Spring blossoms emerge fuchsia and turn to white as they open. Deep green to almost purple leaves adorn the tree in summer with tiny, dark red fruits in fall.

Spring Snow

Abundant white, fragrant flowers cover this ornamental tree in spring. Unlike other flowering crabapples, Spring Snow does not produce any fruit, providing the beautiful spring show without the fall fruit mess. This medium sized upright tree forms a lovely rounded green canopy, providing summer shade.

Zone 3

Prairiefire

Vibrant fuchsia spring blooms with yellow centers create a riot of spring color that is irresistible to bees and butterflies. This compact, rounded tree has exceptional disease resistance. Fall brings small 1/2 inch fruits that attract wildlife and birds.

Zone 4

Royal Raindrops®

So many reasons to love this gorgeous tree! Bright pink spring flowers contrast against deeply cut purple foliage. Bright red fruits pop against orange and purple fall foliage. This vigorous cultivar is a winner in windy climates with strong branches and a trunk that quickly gains caliper. Excellent disease resistance.
